JOHNSON BUYS SIERRA COUNTY MINING CLAIMS

We are informed that State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson has purchased the group of claims owned by the Strand interests near Downieville, knwn as the Fafayette, Buckeye and Extension, together with G. and C Claims. This makes the Kirkpatrick mining property cntiguous, with a total of eighteen claims.

Development of this property has begun and well under way to contact with the tunnels of the Magnolia claim, in which has been located a definite gravel channel. Crosscutting of the west rim, through a gravel bed eight to sixteen feet in in depth, with values running from $4 to $6 per car, is now in progress. This tunnel is said to give evidence of permanency and justifies the abandonment of the present equipment and the installation of electric power and more modern machinery. Water rights have been acquired which will permit of sluicing during the entire year.

The Kirkpatrick mines, under the management of George Nightengale, will develop increased production immediately and in the judgment of good mining authorities, the claims now owned by the company are considered one of the strongest and best mining properties in the state.

JAKE ZANOCCO KILLED AT MURCHIE THURSDAY

One of Nevada City's most promising and best loved young men, Jake A. Zanocco ,was instantly killed at the Murchie mine about 1 o'clock Thursday morning by, in some unknown manner, falling from the 1100 level to the bottom of the sump, about 150 feet. He was the skip tender at the 1100 level, and when he failed to respond to the signal for the skip shortly after 1 o'clock, fellow workers were sent to investigate and failing to find Zanocco at his station ordered the skip lowered to the bottom of the shaft and there in the sump was fund the crushed and mangled body. Dr. Swayze was immediately summoned and pronounced the young man dead, the body being removed to the Holmes Funeral Home.

Jake Zanocco was a native of Nevada City, having been born here November 8, 1906. After graduating from the Nevada City grammar school he was for a time employed by his father in his teaming business, later working as a truck driver. He had been at the Murchie for the past eight months.

To his many friends Jake was known as a jolly, happy and carefree young man who was always ready to do his part in any undertaking and he will be sadly missed by all who knew him.

Surviving him are his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Zanocco, two brothers Fred and William and a sister, Mrs. Jessie Costa, all of Nevada City and Mrs. Jane Harris of Sacramento and Mrs. Loretta Mrandi of Grass Valley, sisters.

The funeral was held from the Holmes Funeral Home last Sunday at 3:30 o'clock, Rev. H. H. Buckner officiating.

SIERRA COUNTY MINING

DOWNIEVILLE, June 21.—(Special to The Nugget)—Addison Brown is well underway with his shaft at the Triple Pocket mine, south of Downieville. The shaft is to be 200 feet deep, following the footwall of the Triple Pocket vein. Brown has a crew of three men employed at the present time.

County Surveyor Geo. F. Taylor, J. K. Latta and D. W. Mills left Thursday for Crescent Mills, Plumas Co., where they will survey mining property belonging to Latta and Mills.

The Montrose Hydraulic Mine, east of Downieville, has closed down for the season, the water having failed. Superintendent Davison reports a poor water season.

R. F. Taylor and Lavier Thomas returned from the gravel mines of northern Sierra County where they have been surveying.

POWER AND LIGHTS WILL BE TURNED OFF

The power will be off from 1 p.m. until 4 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, June 23, 25 and 27. This is done to remove the danger to the workmen, and expedite the work of changing the wires for the installation of the new street lights, which the P. G. & E. Company hope to have installed by July 1st.

The work of changing the 4000 lines is very dangerous when handled alive, and has to be done with the utmost care; rubber mats and hose have to be placed on the wires, and the workmen use rubber gloves at all times. The corner, or junction poles, where the wires go off in different directions are especially dangerous, and it is from these poles that the men have their greatest risks. There are several of these poles on this job, which starts at the Nevada City sub station, continues to Broad street, Broad street from the Plaza to the Tahoe-Ukiah highway, from the Pine street bridge to Commercial street, down Commercial street to the Plaza.

The poles, about thirty in number have all been set, and the stringing in of the new wires will start Monday.

The Auburn boys, who are doing this work under the supervision of Harry Couger, are very grateful to the business men, and the larger users of electricity, who have consented to this shut down, and also to all others who may be inconvenienced by the turning ff of the power on these days.

For two years he worked for the American Railway Express Company and won.. many friends by his quiet manner and kind thoughtfulness. He was taken ill with influenza two years ago and tuberculosis developed from which he never recovered.

He leaves to mourn him besides his sorrowing mother, three brothers, William, Richard and Robert, all of Nevada City. He also leaves a grandmother, Mrs. Mary Hill, who came up from Sacramento to be with Mrs. James and was accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. G. M. Cookie and Mrs. Bessie Renfree. ARIZONA MINE WILL START WASHING GRAVEL

DOWNIEVILLE, June 22.—(Special to The Nugget.)—Washing of gravel will start within a few days at the Arizona Mine, according to H. B. McCormick, one of the owners. While McCormick makes no predictions as to the value of the gravel, he declares that is is of good quality, and believes that he is near the edge of the disturbed ground. Several months ago The Nugget published a story about the striking of pipe-clay at the Arizona. The present find of gravel is evidence that McCormick is near the pay-streak.

WATER CONSUMPTION MUST BE CURTAILED

Figures compiled by L. W. Jennings, superintendent of the local water system, show the daily per capita water consumption of Nevada City to be 1300 gallons. If this rate of using water is continued it will be necessary to establish certain hours for irrigating as this amount of water is several times in excess of the needed water to supply all the needs of the community.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION AT NEVADA CITY WILL BE GREAT SUCCESS

An enthusiastic and rousing meeting was held Saturday evening for the purpose of making definite plans for the Fourth of July celebration. Over forty people attended and all pledged themselves to help out in the preparations necessary to get ready for the big celebration.

Chairman Ed Uren of the Concessions Committee declared himself discouraged by the lack of cooperation and rather overwhelmed by the tremendous task and was in favor of postponing the matter to a later date. However, since the invitations have gone out and many have been accepted for a '49 celebration it was decided that everyone should put their shoulder to the wheel and put the thing over even though the time is short to do so. General Chairman Frank Davies urged the importance of everyone in the community getting behind and helping as it is too big a task to be handled by a handful of people.

Vincent Foley of the finance committee reported that his committee had raised almost the amount necessary for the budget with about 20 people more to see. There was a substantial amount left over from the celebration two years ago.

It was suggested that the '49 features be kept to Commercial street and this was decided upon as most feasible. Arbogast Brothers have offered to donate slabs from their sawmill to be used on the fronts of the buildings to give them the atmosphere of the early days. The old brick buildings will be left as they are and only the more modern wooden ones converted. Many of the old buildings will be converted into concessions of the '49er featurer. Chairman Frank Davies explained that some of the townspeople misunderstood the idea of the '49 camp. While the atmosphere will be of the '49 there will be nothing of roughness about the concessions. Paper money will be printed and sold for 50 cents a stack. All buying and gaming will be done with the paper money and everyone is guaranteed to get their money's worth for the 50 cents.

The main idea of carrying out the '49 camp was to raise enough money enough to finance the airport which is so dear to the heart of every loyal Nevada Citian.

Miss Lenore Stenger was appointed as chairman of the committee to gather antiques to be displayed in the store windows .The store owners have offered to cooperate by placing the relics in their display windows.

The parade committee reported that 30 floats of all nature had been promised with one and possibly two covered wagons. An ox team may be procured. Spanish War Veterans of Roseville have accepted the invitation of the committee to partciipate in the parade and plan to come here thirty strong.

It is impossible to get enough horses to use for the floats so one division will be devoted to horse carriages and another section will carry out the idea with motor driven vehicles.

Chief Jim Dick and his tribe of Indians will be here again this year. Another colorful feature of the parade will be the old Chinese characters which were an important part of the early day life in this section of California.

Programs are being prepared and will be sold at a nominal sum. Each program will contain a coupon which will entitle the holder to a chance in the wonderful gold mine and homesite which is t obe given away. This is one of the very special features of the celebration and should draw many people from out of town. The mining location is being donated by Carl Tobiassen. The assessment work has been done. Lying as it does in the Champion district it may prove a bonanza. However, it is worth taking a chance on.

Ed Baker is planning a program of sports with some new features added to the usual list of games and contests.

E. L. Kilroy announced that Horace H. Greeley of Marysville, Past Grand President of the Native Sons, has accepted the invitation of the committee to be orator of the day. Other features of the Literary Program are being arranged.

A number of Valley towns including Roseville, Auburn and Marysville are not featuring a Fourth of July Celebration and have expressed the willingness to cooperate with Nevada City and have assured the committee that large delegations will be present from each of these towns. ItI is important to give them a celebration that will linger long in their memory and to endear Nevada City to every visitor. In order to do this the citizens of Nevada City must work as a unit and everyone do their part to aid the hard working committee.

NEVADA CITY OWNS STREETS OF GOLD

NEVADA CITY, June 20 (PCNS). —The phrase, "streets of gold," has a literal meaning when applied to Nevada City.

During excavation for the erection of a power pole at the main junction of streets in the business section, a highly mineralized quartz ledge was uncovered Friday by workmen.

Free gold was found in the rock and only the fact that the "strike" is located in the town's main street kept miners from locating the claim.

MARTINS HAVE RETURNED TO THEIR OLD HAUNTS

People on the streets of Nevada City have been surprised of late to be greeted by the merry chatter of the martins who have sought out nesting places in the Odd Fellows' building, in back of the court house homelike birds have been around

It has been many years since these homelike birds have been around Nevada City and bird lovers generally are glad to see them return. For many years bird houses were maintained on the roofs of many of the business houses and the birds would take possession in April and

In the condemnation suit against Arthur W. Nicholls before Judge Raglan Tuttle at Auburn, the P. G. & E. Co. who are the plaintiffs, after a preliminary statement of their case rested and were followed by the defendant Nicholls who seeks to prove a value of the Consolidated Junction and Sailor Claims on Bear River, just west of Dutch Flat, of about $200,000 for mining purposes.

To support his contention C. S. Haley was present with a plan for working the gravels, which have a width of about 200 feet and a depth of perhaps 70 feet, by means of the steam shovel at a cost of about 10 cents per yard. Haley believes that the gravel will run 30 cents per yard. Haley believes that the gravel will run 30 cents per yard and would yield a nice profit. Mr. Haley was follwed by Fletcher Hamilton and Bert Austin, who supported his ideas.

To convert this testimony the plaintiffs placed upon the stand Geo. K. Woods and Gus Wilkie ,two old residents of Dutch Flat who testified that in working the most productive top gravels by shoveling in boxes their usual wage was in the neighborhood of a dollar a day.

E. C. Uren testified for the plaintiffs that his family had been owners with Nichols in more than five miles of Bear River for more than 50 years. He had also worked in the bed of the river with similar results as to pay and that he did not believe the gravel would go over five cents per yard as a whole.

Practically all of the co-owners except Nicholls disposed of their title to the P. G. & E. in 1927. The trial, which is before a jury, has been continued until Thursday morning.

RUTHERFORD STEPHENS PASSED AWAY FRIDAY

Rutherford C. Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Stephens of Nevada City, died at his home Friday afternoon after a long but unsuccessful fight against tuberculosis.

He was born in Nevada City January 24 ,1904, graduated from high school here with the class of 1922. While attending school he worked in the R. J. Bennetts' drug Store and became so interested in the work that after leaving high school he went to San Francisco and took a course in pharmacy. After completing his course and passing the state examination with honor he returned here for a time was with Mr. Bennetts and his successor, R. E. Curtis. He then went to Sacramento where he was employed by the Allee Pharmacy.

His health failed while in the latter position and he returned here for his health and after recovering, returned to his work. About a year ago he was again stricken and this time his brave fight was lost.

Rutherford C. Stephens was a young man in his prime, possessed of a striking personality, and a happy disposition which made friends for him where ever he went. His passing will be deeply mourned by all who had the pleasure of knowing him.

He was a member of the Order of Red Men, having held every office to the presiding office anl was district deputy Grand Sachem of this district; also a member of B. P. O. E. lodge N. 518 of Nevada City.

He leaves, besides his heartbroken parents, two brothers, Harry and Jim, a sister, Catherine a grandmother, Mrs. Josephine Schwartz and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schwartz, all of Nevada City.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the Elks Home, the officers of the Elks and Rev. Father O'Reilly conducting the services.

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Basford of Santa Rosa are spending a week in Nevada City as the guest of Mrs. Elsie Willoughby. Dr. Basford is very much interested in the pear blight, having extensive pear orchards in Potter Valley where he spends a part of his time. He plans to visit the pear orchards in the vicinity to learn what is being done to counteract the spread of the blight. He will also visit the Placerville section.

GOLD MINING INDUSTRY MORE ENCOURAGING

By Errol MacBoyle

Since the beginning of the World War and especially during the past decade, gold mining has languished owing to the high cost of materials and labor and other adverse economic conditions. The public's lack of interest in gold mining has been evidenced by the steady decline in the production of gold.

During the last ten years the interest of the general public has been diverted from the mining industry to the stock market where it was supposed enormous profits could be realized in industrial, bank and investment trust stocks in a very short time. It is a sad commentary on the wisdom of the small investor that so few of them cashed in their paper profits durin the bull market of 1929 and that so many lost their whole invested capital or are still holding stocks which have declined to even one-fifth of the inflated prices of the "new era market" of 1929.

Another factor which helped to depress the gold mining industry during the post-war period was the fact that most of the large mining corporation confined their attention to mineral deposits of copper, silver, lead and zinc. Now, however, the metal picture is entirely changed. Copin the past few months has fallen in price from 18 to 11½ cents per pound silver from 6 cents to 32 cents, and lead and zinc are a drug on the market. Copper, silver, lead and zinc mines throughout the world are closing down as only the so-called low cost producers can make a profit and then only a small one at the present prices of metals.

The future outlook for these metals if far from encouraging as world economic conditions point to a long period of deflation with declining demand for all commodities. This will mean of course declining commodity, living and labor costs and it is in such a period that the gold mining industry prospers. It is therefore evident that the various gold mining districts of the world and particularly those of California are destined to see a general revival in gold mining and a new era of increasing prosperity.

That this era is being rapidly ushered in is evidenced by the sudden demand for gold mines by the large copper and silver mining corporations whose scouts are now combing the various gold mining districts for attractive gold mines. The gold mining counties of California are already feeling the impetus of this changed attitude toward gold mining. In the Grass Valley listrict the consolidation of the Empire and North Star mines by the Newmont company in 1929 showed the foresight of that organization and marked the beginning of revival of gold mining in our local area. It is reported that the results of the intensive development campaign carried on at the Empire and North Star mines has been very satisfactory and that 20 stamps will be immediately added to the 80 stamp mill, giving a capacity of from 12,000 to 15,000 tons per month.

One of the outstanding successful gold mining operations in the Grass Valley district in the past year has been the rapid blocking out of high-grade milling ore in the new ore-shoots of the Idaho-Maryland mine. It is reported that one ore shoot has been developed for a length of over 1000 feet on the 1900 level and by raises and intermediate drifts to a point 500 feet above this level. On the 1600 intermediate level the vein is said to vary in width from 3 to 15 feet and the 20 stamp mill is being kept in continuous operation on the development ore / om the mine development faces being driven in the nw orebody It. is said that this development ore is running from $12.50 to $15.00 per ton and that the operation. for the past 6 months have shown a monthly net profit above all operating and development costs.

Various metallurgical experiments are now being carried no to determine the most efficient and economical method of treatment of the ore. Upon the completion of these tests in the next month, the capacity of the mill will be increased to 4000

COZY CORNER CHAT

I wonder how many local people realize what an important part The Nugget has played in the affairs of the community since its inception three and a half years ago.

The late editor and publisher came to Nevada City to start a newspaper against the heaviest of odds and against the advise of friends in and out of the newspaper business. Nevada City was called a newspaper "graveyard" because five papers had previously expired here. But believing in the future of the community and wishing to live and work among its people he braved the heavy odds and putting his shoulder to the wheel began the publication of The Nevada City Nugget. A small handful of businessmen put their trust in him and supported the concern through their advertising. Ninety per cent of these business men have continued to give their support unfaltering and to them goes our hearty thanks.

Mr. Willoughby worked for the love of the work in which he was engaged, caring only for enough stipend to feed and clothe his family. He did the work of more than two men by working early and late. Nor did he complain doing so as he was happy in his work.

The time came this spring when he wished to enlarge his paper. In order to do so it was ncessary to buy a larger press, and to engage a man full time to help him. This was done, firmly believing that the businessmen of Nevada City would make the added expense possible through more advertising. As the paper stood it could not stand the heavy load of expenditures. Before he was able to test out the advisability of the change sickness came, from which he never recovered.

The Nugget's fight against an element that had established itself into the confidence of the people and its ultimate outcome is only too familiar for mining. Its desire to put a man in the Assembly who was capable of making the necessary fight, The Nugget selected Jerry Seawell and made no mistake in doing so. The Nugget has become known throughout the state for its authentic mining news and through this medium has attracted many people to this section. At the State Capitol The Nugget is a power to be considered. So it is now an established institution in the community and it is ever at work for its good.

The time has come though when the businessmen must show their appreciation in what has been done by The Nugget and rally more fully to its support. We are giving an eight page paper on advertising which only warrants six pages. This makes a tremendous strain on the office force but we are uncomplaining as we believe that if the businessmen of Nevada City understood the true light of the situation they would be glad to lend their support to so worthy an institution. We are not asking for charity but only for a fair deal.

Yours for a BIGGER AND BETTER NEVADA CITY.
E.P.W.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor Nevada City Nugget:

Regarding your article on our California Blue Sky Law, I would suggest that there are some other things that are also responsible for driving capital away from our California mining for instance the excessive insurance cost.

However, I think a good deal of the lack of interest in mining is largely due to the failure of those entrusted with public funds to bring in "Profitable Producers." Such an industry as the Petroleum Industry with its quick results in prospecting and its far more frequent returns on investment, captures the investors both male and female (as a rule the latter are prejudiced against mining).

As I have been around and seen the flagrant misuse of funds I wonder that anybody buys mining stocks. Let me illustrate: Not long a group of tailors in a certain city in the southern part of the state decided to enter the mining game. They secured one of the largest peaks in the south and under the assumption that it was a mass of $5.00 milling ore. They developed water and built a large cyanide plant—paying for it before the contract was due and accepting it without the usual 30-day trial. Mechanically the mill was a complete failure—(an elevator had been installed on a sidehill with over 400 feet fall). Three mill superintendents were engaged in four months and no clean-up was ever made. I finally induced some of the officers to visit a Mother Lode plant (after three months urging) and in less than 5 minutes inspection the reason why the mill did not work was made apparent to them.

During the ride home they indulged in some very sarcastic remarks about the commission refusing them permission to sell more stock until they put their mill on production. I told them a bunch of high school boys would have administered their finances in better ways than they had—at least they would have sense enough to engage a mining engineer to meet with the Board.

They thought it a great joke when I asked them what would they think of a mining engineer starting up a tailoring company without any advice or assistance.

Now, to come to the point: Would the investing public have more confidence in Californina mining if the State Mining Bureau took a more active part? Why not segregate the mining corporations and place them under the State Mining Bureau?

I would suggest that anybody be allowed to raise money to open up a prospect up to say $25,000, but the actual expenditure of such funds be inspected and report filed by an engineer of the Bureau—Call the class A investment a gamble:—

If the money has been judiciously spent and the prospect warrants the installation of power, drills and necessary equipment to further develop the known ore—allow a reasonable increase of capitalization. Call this class B. Report and inspection to be filed at least once a year, and available to the general public. If such second expenditure warrants installation of a milling plant then permit a further increase in capital and with the plant in operation we have a profitable mine of Class C.

I think many operators while struggling along would welcome technical advice from the State Mining Department and I am sure several of the engineers engaged by the Department would welcome some genuine constructive activity. I think in time the public would then realize they were getting "a square run for their money."

RALPH BAVERSTOCK.

ALBERT DRESSLER STILL GETS FREE PUBLICITY

Albert Dressler, who formerly called himself the "Millionaire Tramp," is still breaking into print and getting free publicity. The Mountain Democrat of Placerville contained an article in a recent issue in regards to some valuable (?) manuscript which he had turned over to the State library.

Albert Dressler has been a familiar sight to the country printer for many years. He always wrte his own story for the gulible country editor to print. On that score we had no particular complaint and charged it to idiocyncracy. In recent years, however, he has been coming into the pioneer mountain towns and carrying off old relics. Unsuspecting people have given him valuable relics and he is now "cashing in" on them and charging a high price to anyone who cares to view them. As a result the pioner towns have been denuded.

Chairman Frank Davies of the Fourth of July Committee is having a hard time to gather enough of the old-time things to make a decent sowing. Recently Mr. Davies was offered $125 for an old stage coach, but he refused it H.e is willing to present it to the town if the town will take proper care of it.

Mr. Edward Poorman, who comes here nearly every year from San Jucinto in Southern California, has repeatedly warned us that this condition would come to pass. He predicted that some Hollywood promoter would come up to Nevada County and buy one f the ld ghost towns and transport it to Southern California and that they would charge admittance (and get it). He even further to say that it wouldn't be at all surprising if our children's children had to go to Southern California to see that which was their rightful heritage.

Mr. Poorman considered buying San Juan and putting a fence around it and charging admittance. He has helped put on the Ramona pagent for many years and the last few years has managed it and taken a prominent part i nit. He knows the publicity game and understands the value of a proper appeal.

So Nevada Countians DON'T throw away the worthless (?) junk that has been in the family for so many many years. If you have any that Chairman Davies could display in the store windows call him at 42 store windows phone 42 and he will be glad to come and get it and take care of it seeing that it is returned to the owner.

MINING MAN KILLED NEAR ALLEGHANY

Karl Heintz, wh ois said to have been a mine promoter, and whose real name is now thought to be Arthur Hartung, died at Downieville Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock from injuries received when the car in which he and O. Jacobson were riding plunged into the canyon of the Middle Yuba near the Ireland Mine last Monday afternoon.

The accident was occasioned by Jacobson's attempt to shift gears on the steep hill, the car plunging off the road on a sharp curve before he succeeded in making the shift. The automobile was completely demolished against a large tree near the river.

Jacobson was able to climb the bank and get to Alleghany where he secured assistance and returned tc the scene of the accident and Dr. Terrill rendered first aid treatment. The injured man was rushed to the county hospital at Downieville where he died without giving any information regarding himself or his relatives.

It is reported he changed his name to Heintz after his wife had secured a divorce and the custody of their two children and left with another man.

As nothing could be learned of his family he was buried in the potters field at Downieville Saturday.

Self-Control Prominent Attribute of Socrates

Socrates was a graduate of the school of hard knocks who learned to talk by talking and to preach what he had himself practiced.

His two main tenets were self-control and self-knowledge, and here the stories about him are quite consistent. When he made friends with people of means he could enjoy their luxuries. He outdrank Aristophanes at Agathon's banquet, but generally he preferred not to drink too much lest he might think too little. He believed in temperance, and when made symposiarch, or leader of the feast, he called for "little cups."

Good food he enjoyed, but he could endure the poor cooking of his wife. The same with clothes. During the campaign at Potidea, when others were clad in sheepskins and furs, he walked barefoot on the snow. But unlike many moral reformers Socrates did not insist that what he did was the only thing to do.

If the Greeks had smoked tobacco he would not have belonged to the Anti-Nicotine league. No, his doctrine of self-control seemed to be this: "I can do with, and I can do without, and I trust that you can do the same." Or, as he put the matter when present at the fair: "How many things there are which I do not need."—Woodbridge Riley in "Men and Morals."

Nothing to Distinguish Murderer From Others

It has been discovered that only two per cent of the murderers in New York in the past fifteen years have been fat men, and that the most ghastly crimes are usually committed there by those who are devoid of vitamines. One of the most famous murderers in the world, Charles Peace, was described by a counsel who once defended him as "a small, spare man, clean-shaven, with a very prominent chin, which he could so distort as to make himself unrecognizable." The police description of him issued at the time was: "Thin and slightly built, 5ft. 4in. high, grey (nearly white) hair, beard, and whiskers." Crippen was spare of chest, narrow of shoulder, meager in height, and devoid of muscle, with protruding eyeballs which gave his face a meaningless stare. Scotland Yard was asked about the Cassius type, but no encouragement was given to the New York theory. "My experience is," said an official, "that murderers have few characteristics to distinguish them from the ordinary men you meet in the street, train, or omnibus."

Curling Requires Skill

The game of curling is played on a rink marked out on the ice, with large, smooth stones to which handles are fixed. The stones weigh from 30 to 45 pounds. There are usually four players on a side or team. Each player uses two stones, which he slides along the ice toward a mark 42 yards distant. The object is for a player to lay his stones closer to the mark than those of his opponents. After all players have "curled" or played, the side having stones nearest the mark scores a point for each stone so placed. In Canada and the United States iron curlers are sometimes used in place of stones.

Strand of Hemp

A South American woman living in Paris sued a furniture mover for $4,000 alleging that while transferring her household goods he lost a bit of a hangman's noose which she esteems as a bringer of good luck. The superstition is ancient. When Haman was hanged on the gallows he built for Mordecai it is likely that there was rivalry among Ahasuerus' people for a strand of the rope Queen Esther diverted from its original purpose. Gilderoy was hanged on a gallows tree so high that his kite was immortalized in a saying which endures to this day, and the hemp must have been in demand.—New York Sun.

Each in His Own Place

Let us be not soloists, dominating the whole place, but each one a member of an orchestra, content to bring all that we have and contribute it in music, while we ourselves for the moment keep our personality in shadow and subjection, that there may come to this world a greater harmony, a greater symmetry, a more perfect adjustment of conflicting loyalties, so that we may reach the highest ambition of all, which is, that we may have a name at which men and women, when they hear it, will smile gladly and be proud to claim it as the name of the Friend.—Rosslyn Mitchell.

Always Merry and Bright

A certain club had replaced its familiar black-coated servitors with young, and sometimes pretty, waitresses. One of the old die-hard members who had strongly opposed the idea dropped in to lunch one day.

"How's the duck today?" he growled, glowering at the girl who came to serve him.

"Oh, I'm all right," said the waitress, perkily. "How are you, sir?"—Brooklyn Eagle.

When

The family was expecting Uncle John for dinner Sunday. During the week father announced that Uncle John could not come because he had dislocated his shoulder.

With quite a worried expression on his face Billy asked: "When does he expect to locate it?"

Sacred Chinese Temple Taken Over by Bandits

Mount Lushan, one of the twelve sacred mountains of China, famed alike for the piety of its monks and for the beauty of its scenery, has been entirely pre-empted by bandits. The once sacred grottos, formerly given over to the contemplation of immense carved images of Buddha, or to the rites of Taoist priests, are now used as prisons. Ancient Chinese writings declare that Mount Dushan was "10 miles high and 240 miles in circumference." Today Lushan rises only a little more than 4,000 feet, but it affords an unsurpased view southward over the gulf of Pechili and eastward toward the Liaotung peninsuia, on which the Russians built Port Arthur and on which the Japanese now occupy Dairen. Lushan is very rugged, and in olden times every cliff was ornamented with a temple. Yehlitugu, the famous Chitan who rose to power under Genghis Khan, was an especial devotee of Luskan and legends have it that he selected this mountain to be "the eternal trustee of wisdom." Accordingly he is supposed to have buried 10,000 sacred books in a cavern under the peak of the mountain, and then to have erected over his repository the temple which today is a bleak ruin.

Old English Custom of Wassailing Apple Trees

During the month of January, Somerset (England) farmers participate in the time-honored custom of "wassailing" the apple trees so as to insure a bumper apple crop. The ceremony takes place at night by the flickering and uncertain light of a lantern. The villagers gather in each orchard in turn, round the largest apple trees they can find. A bucket of cider ac-

CAMPTONVILLE

CAMPTONVILLE, June 19.—(Special to The Nugget).—Graduation exercises of the Camptonville Union grammar school were held Saturday evening in the auditorium of the local Masonic Hall. The hall was arranged in a large exhibit of the school work for the year, showing what the children in the several grades had done, which proved very interesting to those attending. Special scenery was made for the plays and with costumes made for the purpose the children took their various parts in a very creditable manner.

Diplomas were presented by County Superintendent of Schools, Mrs. Agnes Weber Meade of Marysville, who had much praise for the local educational system and the interest taken locally towards the education of the children of the community.

A very fitting present was given Miss Doris Nightingale, principal of the school, by the children of her classes to which she responded in a pleasing manner. Miss Nightingale has taught here for the past two years and is leaving at this time to take a position in the Nevada City schools.

Although ninety-seven years of age, that untiring remarkable spirit of '49 still lingers in the heart of Thomas J. Byrd, the oldest living pioneer of this section, now a resident of the Masonic Home at Decoto, and one of most popular residents of the Home. He recently read in the local papers that a subscription was being taken up for the repair of the auditorium of the local Masonic Hall, and having that interest of the community still at heart, Byrd forwarded a contribution of $5.00 to the good of the cause, still wanting to do his bit for the community in which he lived, the pleasures and burdens of which he has always shared.

Miss Lesta H. Joubert, student at the San Jose Teachers' College, arrived Monday to spend the summer vacation visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Joubert.

Tom Coan of Uncle Tom's Cabin was in town Wednesday on a short visit.

Dr. John R. Ivey, Nevada City's popular dentist, passed through town en route to Downieville Wednesday.

Rev. Father Heinz of Oroville was in town Saturday on a short visit.

Mrs. Kate Hope Livingston, accompanied by R. C. Zaring, left Saturday for Dorris, Siskiyou county.

BOLEROS AND CAPES

The paradox of we moderns lies in the fact that in 1930, the age of mechanism, we're turning back to romance. Paris turns to Directoire days for inspiration, and it's smart to look quaintly chic in capelets and boleros. Model 5236 achieves a Parisian air with a brief bolero, ending above the normal waistline. The skirt, flaring from the hips, gives balance to the costume. Model 5205 announces its smart modernism with naive capelets over each shoulder. These furnish all well-dressed women's need of sleeves for warm weather. Note the new buttons and tied belt.

DESSERTS AND OTHER DISHES

There is nothing easier to prepare than junkets and gelatin desserts.

They are most wholesome and especially good for the young and aged.

Cherry Sponge.—Dissolve one package of cherry flavored gelatin in a pint of boiling water. Add twelve finely cut marshmallows. Dip the shears into water when cutting them and they will not stick. Stir well, add a pinch of salt, six drops of almond extract, and chill. When slightly thickened beat with a rotary egg beater until like whipped cream. Turn into individual molds and chill. Serve with cream.

Flaked Ambrosia.—Dissolve one package of raspberry gelatin in a pint of boiling water, add a pinch of salt, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of orange juice and chill until firm. Beat with a rotary egg beater until well flaked, fold in two cupfuls of whipped cream and serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with a green cherry.

Chicken Mousse.—Take one can of boned chicken and mix with a thin white sauce. Add one slightly beaten egg white and one-half cupful of whipped cream. Pour into molds, set into hot water and bake until firm. Serve garnished with capers or truffles. Serve with bechamel sauce.

A Good Pep Cocktail.—Beat one egg yolk, add the juice of half a lemon, one teaspoonful of honey, mix well, chill and serve as a breakfast cocktail.

Prune Jam.—Soak two cupfuls of prunes overnight in one and one-half pints of water. Cook for ten minutes in the water in which they have been soaked, drain and cut into small pieces. Slice one lemon and two oranges, including the peeling, very thin and cook in the prune juice until tender. Add the prune pulp, one cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Seal in jars.

Dried apricots are equally good for jam prepared in the same manner.

KISS FOR THE PRESENT

"My firm is sending me to Canada," said the young commercial traveler, calling on his young lady.

"Oh, Jack," she cried, "does that mean that you want me to go with you?"

"Well, not exactly, dear," he replied. "I called round to ask if you'd kiss me farewell—for the present."

The girl looked mystified for a second or two.

"Of course, I'll kiss you, dear," she replied, "but where's the present?"—London Answers.

THEY'RE BEAUTS

She—The West has wonderful mountains—so beautiful.
He—Yes, lots of them are buttes.

Shifting Opinion

Our old impressions we deny,
How often have we seen it!
We make a law and then we try
To say we didn't mean it.

First Catch Your Man

The Visitor—Is your oldest sister married—the one who was so proficient in all branches of domestic science?

Philippa—No, nor likely to be. She was so busy fitting herself to be the wife of a good man that she neglected to go after the man.

For Literary Uses

The Author—Can I get $2 advance on a story I'm writing?

The Editor—It's unusual. But why?

The Author—I've got to a point where the hero sits down to a square meal and I want to get the right atmosphere.

What takes the flavor out of seasonal delicacies is that they can now be had all the year round.

PASQUALE ISOLTA PASSES A WAY AT SANITARIUM

Pasquale Isolta, a native of Italy, aged 82 years, passed away at the Nevada City Sanitarium early Thursday morning. He had been in poor health for several months.

Mr. Isolta came to America as a young man, became a citizen as soon as was possible, and always took an active interest in the affairs of his adopted country. During the late war he was especially active and was always among the first in any activity which would assist the cause, being among the first to subscribe at each bond issue. Pasquale Isolta's passing will be keenly felt by the many whom he assisted in times of need; he never refused any worthy friend a helping hand. He was scrupulously honest and extremely generous.

Isolta was for some time engaged in contracting for mine timbers and furnishing fire wood, being employed by the old Derbec mine at North Bloomfield for many years to furnish timbers. After the closing of the Derbec mine he came to Nevada City and continued with his business here. He also had a ranch in the Quaker Hill section which he disposed of some years ago.

Words Changed by Time

A "heathen" originally was a dweller on a heath. The early Christians were mostly persons living in cities or walled towns; and the wild, half-savage dwellers of the moorland heaths were among the last to abandon their old gods.

In England the letter "e" was formerly pronounced like "a," and because the village clergyman was usually the most socially prominent individual in the place he became "the person." We still preserve the old pronunciation and call him the parson.

Grand Little Idea

"But, dear," said the wife, looking over the plans for their new home, "what's the idea of these two bathrooms next to each other?"

"That," he said grimly, "is something to make married life easier. One will be fixed up any way you want it, the other is mine, and if ever you stick a guest towel in it, or object to my singing in it while I'm taking a shower—well, you may as well start packing up and go home to mother."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PLEATS VS. GODETS

Although godets and pleats both have their partisans in the smart world, we have a sneaking idea that both of them give chic fulness. It's so much more amusing to have both in your wardrobe! Each of these designs may be made up in a wash silk, and we suggest you make no choice between them.

The sleeveless bolero gives the first frock the appearance of an ensemble. The frock has an applied bosom front in square outline, and godets both at front and back. The next frock is quite simply tailored, with box-pleats all around the skirt, and a turn-back collar and short sleeves.

QUIET AND PLEASANT

"You say you've had a very quiet and pleasant time at home lately?"
"Yes; my wife and I don't speak."

HEELS OVER HEAD

Poor Suitor—Darling, I'm heels over head in love with you!

THE NUGGET PAGE OF MINING NEWS

According to Harry B. Leonard of Hollister, California, owner of the Alpine quicksilver mine near Georgetown, a new rotary furnace is to be installed by a company which now holds an option on the property. At present the mine is equipped with a 20-ton Scott furnace. The ore is extracted through tunnel workings and in one of the old tunnels some new deposits have been found, which had escaped notice of the original operators. During the past year some of the old dump was treated and was found to contain 2 per cent quicksilver.

The City of Six Mining Company, A. E. Hodgkinson, principal owner, started preliminary work on its lode gravel mine, near Downieville. This is the eighteenth year of development and it is expected that production will be started soon. A famous producer of placer gold in the early days, this property is now valuable principally for its lode veins.

The Idaho-Maryland Mines Company, Albert Crase, Grass Valley, general superintendent, is planning to add a 20-stamp unit to its mill, to improve its devices for recovering gold and to enlarge its mine plant. The Brunswick property is to be unwatered and its plant may be made the center of activities for the group. It is said that the Dorsey ledge is showing steady values and that a considerable tonnage of good ore has been blocked out on the 1,900-foot level.

Preparatins for steady production are being completed by the Paramount Mining Corporation, W. A. Hunter, general manager, 618 Crocker building, San Francisco, California. The property is near Onion Valley in Plumas county, at an altitude of 6,500 feet, and is covered by four feet of snow. The Paramount company is also operating two giants profitably on a property, near Sierra City, in Sierra County.

The Butte-Saddle Gold Mines, Ltd., T. W. Callender, superintendent in charge, Sierra City, Cal., has completed its modern 10-stamp mill and is operating it on a three-shift basis. In the 800-foot tunnel, where 400 feet of backs are available, a vein varying from three to nine feet in thickness has been uncovered. Solon Chatfield of Nevada City is mill superintendent.

STOCKS TO WITHDRAW FROM MINING EXCHANGE

The names of seven more companies whose stocks are listed on the San Francisc Mining Exchange were added during the past week to the protest against the new regulations adopted by the exchange at the suggestion of the corporation commissioner of California.

The protest, which was sent to President Epstine by J. Grant Crumley of Reno, requesting the return of listing fees already paid, signifying intention to withdraw from the exchange, contained the signatures of officials of thirty-one companies. Those added the past week were the Brougher, High Divide, Monarch Pittsburg, Thompson Divide and Silver Divide of the "Brougher companies," and the Belcher Divide.

The protest is directed principally against the requirement of the corporation commissioner that all companies listed must maintain a registrar of stock an dtransfer agent in San Francisco, but reference is also made in Crumley's letter to the increase of yearly dues of assessable stocks, put into effect in February, from $100 to $200 a year. In his letter to President Epstine, Crumley says:

"Quite a number of the representatives of the above companies also express themselves that they feel the added expense of a registrar and the extra $100 listing fee was really working a hardship on them at the present time—considering the extremely low price of all metals being mined in Nevada.

"Personally, I am satisfied that if your exchange had taken the matter of metal prices under consideration, and it would have been possible to do so, you would have postponed adding this extra expense to our companies.

ASSESSMENT WORK NOT WAIVED THIS YEAR

Doubt has been expressed by some owners of unpatented mining claims regarding the necessity for doing their annual assessment work this year; the period for doing which ends at 12 o'clock noon July 1, 1930.

According to Walter W. Bradley, State Mineralogist, confusion has resulted through the introduction in Congress of S. B 4.337 granting exemption from annual labor on mining claims, and reports have gained circulation that on account of the extreme low price of silver, this bill has been passed. Such is not the case. In view of the fact the Commissioner of the General Land Office has recommended that the bill be not enacted into law, and the statement of Senator Oddie, chairman of the Committee on Mines and Mining, that efforts to secure action on it are not advisable at this time, it appears certain that such annual work will not be suspended.

In case the work has been delayed in anticipation of hte bill's passing, if it is started before noon July 1st and is thereafter prosecuted during the usual work hours with "due diligence" until until completed, the claim will not be forfeited. However, it is much better anl safer to have the work completed before the expiration of the time allowed fr doing it. The question of whether or not it was continued with "due diligence" will not then arise.

An affidavit (proof of labor) must be filed for record in the office of the County Recorder f the county in which the claim is situated within thirty days after July first.

MARTINS HAVE RETURNED

stay with us until their young were large enough to take care of themselves—usually about the latter part of July.

The martins are sociable fellows and are always together. They do not nest in single pairs but in little clonies seek the abode of mankind for their home. They live on flying insects which they catch in their open mouths while on the wing. Their bills are short and capable of being opened to an larming width. The saliva in their mouths holds the insects until they accumulate in sufficient quantity to be swallowed.

The martin leads a life of which would be a joy to the most fastidious tourist. When the weather gets real hot he hies to the far north and is seen well within the arctic circle and in the winter he basks in the sunshine and warmth of Central and South America.

There is a picturesque old inn beside a post road in New Jersey with a five-storied martin house set up on a pole above its quaint, swinging sign. For more than 30 years a record was kept on this pole showing the dates of the coming and going of the martins in April anl September, which did nt vary more than two or three days during that time.

Many people, who are only just beginning to realize how much good these birds do in ridding the air of mosquitoes and other flying pests, are putting up boxes for them in order to get them to make their hmes with us, for it is believed that they can be induced to return again in as great numbers as they formerly did.

NEVADA STREETS OF GOLD

section have been experiencing much difficulty with rock.

Blasting has been resorted to at this particular point. It was thought that they had encountered a large boulder but the striking of high grade ore shows that they are in the bed rock and have tapped the old Nevada County Ledge.—San Francisco Call-Post.

Sh- - - - - I'll let you in on the secret.

Nevada City has a regular promotion man here although he does not appear on the payroll of the city or the Chamber of Commerce. He is O. D. Woodman and he conceived the idea of salting the blast. Among the rocks at the Chamber of Commerce was some fine looking specimens. These were carefully put into the hole where the charge was to be shot and were scattered by the blast. The curious onlookers picked up some of the rock and found it to cntain gold quartz.

Had the story been true as printed it would have caused an upheaval in the geological world as Nevada City rests on a granite boulder and gold is never found in the granite.

However Woodman's stunt worked and we have him to thank for a lot of free publicity.

Keep up the good work, Woody.
